Sharpen your research skills and gain insight into human behavior.

The Ursuline psychology curriculum will introduce you to the study of human behavior and mental processes. Psychology majors are trained in the Boulder Model, which includes courses in the scientific process as well as the practical application of psychological principles. Students will also learn how to conduct, interpret, and analyze psychological research.

The Psychology program provides the opportunity for students to blend the strengths of a strong psychology major with business courses for various applications in the work place.
