FASHION DESIGN

Careers

The fashion industry offers graduates a variety of career options:

- Apparel designer
- Apparel manufacturer
- Costume designer
- Research
- Retailing
- Illustrator
- CAD designer
- Stylist
- Fashion forecaster
- Restoration
- Preservation
- Fashion beading
- Colorist

Challenge yourself and create in a modern design studio.

As a Fashion Design major at the Ursuline College Campus of Gannon University, you'll learn and practice all the essential aspects of design: inspiration, illustration, fundamental pattern making, sewing, drafting, draping and more. All of your skill building will culminate in a final presentation of a designed collection at your Senior Collection Fashion Show. You'll learn business and technology skills in our facilities that include 3-D printing, scanners, Adobe Creative Cloud programs and access to online fashion resources. You'll also work with sewing, industrial sewing and cover stitch machines, multi-thread sergers and standard dress forms.

"The faculty at Ursuline really empowers us and make sure that we're able to go into careers with everything we could possibly need."

3+1 Program with the Fashion Institute of Technology (FIT)

Students may choose to spend their third year at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City. Those who choose this track may apply for housing on campus after acceptance to FIT and are responsible for the cost of housing and transportation while in New York. Students must see that all official transcripts of their completed work in New York are mailed to the Registrar's Office at Ursuline College Campus. All work in fashion design is considered enrichment elective credit. Students receive an Associate in Applied Science (AAS) Degree from the Fashion Institute of Technology upon graduation from Gannon University.
